"MACBETH" AT THE THEATRE ROYAL.

'There are doubtless many who regret that the season in this Colony of the Lang-Holloway Company has come to a conclasion. It was a furturate circumstance that after a somewhat brief but very successful period in Shanghai, this delightful and talented troupe were able to squeeze in another of the fine old Shakespeares plays ere they departed for Manila, to fulfil an engagement there. The good impression which the company created in Hongkong only a few weeks ago was general, as it was in other places visited. Therefore it was now to be wondered at that they were accorded a great reception upon appearing at the Theatre Royal last night who is the tragedy of "Macbeth." was singed. We presume that there are few European & resident in the Colony who have not men Mr Math & n Long and Miss Hurin Britton, and to those who have not we can only say that they have missed opp rtunities exceptional in the Far Easter It. is therefore unnecessary to comment again upon their acting. Let it suffice that in "Maleth" they were tried but not found wanting. Their conception of the playwright's ideas was put into delightid action with a feeling and effect which no member of the large audience last night could belp but admiring. Those who have either road or seen the play and there must be few who have not know of th difficulties it presents, but if there was any berrier in the way of Mr Matheson Lang or Miss Briton it was casily ausmounted Turning to the title role one list an intense admiration for Mr Sinth am Lave . He resched a grand pitch of emotional acting to the murder scance Machath with the skill with the MATO ON admirable interpretation by any transmission and the Macbeth that she acted yell up to the TOWNY INSTRUCTOR AND DESTREETING A TREATMENT The greatest thates to the female

THE IRISH LEADER. I hear from a military source, that the Republican government in China have made tentative enquiries of our Government as to whether there would be any disposition to lend a humber of B itish officers to reorganise the army and navy in China. The inquiry came along before the Emperur really abdicated so the answer was held up for the a while rather than create complications with other Powers. Along with the query came some sort of assurances as to considerable contracts to follow for the building of ships and the supply of war material, so it is likely that the overture will be considered in a sympathetic spirit by the Government here, for they are now on safe ground, a proof of which was to be seen at the Legation in Portla d the chief visitor: Place on Sunday, when the flag of the new ing an Anglo-Genman agreement inves reached the point where the main nintter under the deliberation of the diplomats concerns the future of British interests in the Middle East, particularly as regards the Bagdad railway.

Originally it was intended that Germany and England should both be concerned in that enterprise. It was thought out first of all by English pic-neers but owing to the short-sightedness of Lord Beaconsheld the British dropped out. It was planned with the idea that no nation should reap strategical advantage but after the British groups had been formed the British Foreign Office came to the conclusion that the predomin ant German financial control would be

So England withdraw and ever since the Bagdad railway has remained a difficult problem. But it has advanced gradually for, all that, till now it has reached the foot of the Taurus Mountains. When it has crossed it will touch at a valley station where s junction is designed with a branch line to meet the sea coast opposite Cyprus, while the main line proceeds to El Helif. The scheme includes branches into the Kurdish bill country to the northward, and a counection with the Mecca railway by a link.

Now England does not wish to deprive Germany of the seconomic position won in Asia Minor, but she does desire to safeguard her own strategic position as affect. ing not merely Egypt and India but the entire country from the Bosphorus down to the Persian Gul! British participation in the Bagiad scheme our only take place when these strategic questions have been. settled satisfactorily to the British government, and it is contended that the present is, the best opportunity that has offered for years to secure such a sattlement. This is the one comer of the earth where Germany can give us something in return for what she may desire in Africa or elsewhere. What will she give? If it is a liberal recognition of our claims in that region, then we shall be a long way on towards the agreement and the limitation of armamenta, for this Asia Minor and Syria question has been one of the foremost in the minds of the constructors of a big Germany navy.

I hear that the health of Mr John Redmond is causing great unxiety to his friends, and it is not at all unlikely that he may not be able to bear the strain of an arduous campaign in the country and the House before the Home Rule measure is through. As Mr T. P. O'Conner is also suf fering from an organi. Ailment, the mantle of the leader will full on " foe" Delvin the Nationalalist member who wrested a seat from the Unionists of Belfast. PERING. March 10. Wuan Shih-kai was inaugurated this afternoon at three o'clock as provisional President of the Ropublic in the upper hall of the palatial new Weiwnpu-buildings, in which were assembled the representatives of Nanking, of Wachang, of the Viceroys, Covernors and Ministers of the eight Banner.corps, the Navy, of the Manchus, Mongolians, and Tibetans, and of the Chamber of Commerce. Yuan, who was wearing military uniform, outered by a side door, stoud facing the throng, a sturdy soldier-like figure, and read his declaration as follows :---

"Since the Republic has been establish ed may works now have to be performed Laball endeavour faithfully to develop the Republic, to sweep away the disadvantages the laws of the constitution, to increase the wolfare of the country, to cement together a strong nation which shall embrace all five races. When the National Assembly cleets a permanent President, shall retire. This I swear before the Chinese Republic."

TO REVOLUTIONISE MUS-

RETRY IN WORLD'S ARMIES. (Special to the "CHINA MAIL")

LONDON, March 2.

An Australian electrical engineer named Fydney M. Rose is the latest contributor to the science of marksmanship. He has produced a target device for use on all ranges that will flash to the elbow of the marksman precisely what has been done by his shot on the target. Expert gunnery officers in the British army 'declare the new-device will revolutionise the training of the soldiers of the world.

The device has not been produced in a moment of inspiration. Three years ago the inventor first produced his model, but since then he has developed it until now he has a perfected apparatus that has won the approval of lechnical and military experts not only of England but of all the

There have been many attempts before now to do away with human markers and enable the rifleman to tell at occowhat he has achieved on the target, but invariably they have been sectional targets. That menue that each section of the target use attached to absolute monarchy, to observe to be connected with the indicator at the marksmin's end of the ringe by at least. one wire and even then only the section struck not the precise spot, could be indicated. In this new target only three wires are used, yet Ahe position of the slict on the target is shown instantaneously on the indicator by the side of the rifleman in absolute accuracy; Unwards of 147,450 readings can be given by this device on a larget two feet square according to the calculations of the technical experts. The cost of installation is claimed to be no more than one tenth that of previous attempts. Not only are the bits recorded, but the in sacs and a so shown, so that a minnery instructor can produce officiency, in his men with vistly less time and ammunition than under the old methods. Moreover the device can be used with exher a fixed or moving target; and it can be used by naval crews while at sen, this obvicting the houser's for their going schore to peacting at the langes. To has been found on the trial ranges already equipped that this innovation has enormously increased the interest in rife shooting and has brought in numerous members to the rifle clubs concerned. WHAT NERVOUS PEOPLE SHOULD HAT.

A SIMPLE ARRANGEMENT OF THE DIST SCHEME

ONE of the prost difficult problems on confronting the nervous sufferer or his physician is what to est. The reason is that people with nerves constantly seffer from nervous dyspecies, a condition which is generally very difficult to cure.

Two tacts stand out with perfect clearness in these cases. The first is that red meat of all kinds should be absolutely ruled out of the dist scheme, as being very much too stimulating for the nervous system. The socond is that from the remaining list of frods those should be solected which are bland in their nature and easily digestible. Pre-eminsupreme among milk products, is Sanatogen. It is composed of the body-building portion of pure cow's milk, chemically combined with phosphorus in the exact form in which it is found in the nervous system. It is digosted with the utmost case and rapidity, and is assimilated without the tenat trouble and in the shortest possible time."

The result is that very soon after it, has been taken it affects the whole nervous system so advantageously, that the nervous sufferer becomes comecous of an unusual bell and altogother unaccustomed sensation of energy, a feeling of vitality and a sense of vigour to which he had long been a stranger. Unlike the stimulation produced by alcohol, this does not wear off with more or less with alcohol, which makes the nerves seem more "on end"-to use a common expression—than before.

Sanat gen, in short, is the ideal food for nervous sufferers, and it has the additional advantage that it sids the digestion of other foods. "In this way it further improves the nutrition of the body, which is invariably in a poor condition among nervous sufferore. It thus plays a double part, each of which ruinforces the other, so that the 711. result never fails to be, in the highest degree, beneficial. Indeed, in proportion to the lassitude from which nervous people always suffer in the tropics, is the sense of mental exhibitation and physical well-being which the regular use of Sanatogen ensures. What it is expable of doing is strikingly shown by what it did in the case of Madame Sarah Grand, the distinguished English novelist, who writes:—"Sanatogen has done everything for me which it is said to by able to do for cases of nervous debility and exhaustion. I began to take it three times a day after nearly four years enforced idleness from extreme debility, and now (lifter only four months) I find mysel able to enjoy both work and play again, and Sanatogen can be obtained at all chemists.

CONTEMPORARY VIEWS OF CHINA'S UNREST

Discussing the outbreak of soldiers in China the N. O. Daily News mays :-One important point ha siso to be borne in mind both se regards the possible behaviour of the Diplomatic Body and the outcome of the mutiny. However laridly the insurrection may be painted, there is as yet no ground for believing that it is anything more than brigandage on a vest scale by men who have not been paid their salaries, joined by the rowdies who infest big cities all the world over. Grave as the outburst is, and much as the world will sympathize with the unfortunates who have loss their all by fro and plunder, it would be infinitely graver were any political significance attachable to it. That there is none, was emphasized in the telegram from the Nanking delegate to Mr Wen Taungyao, which we published on Saturday, and and all honour is due to the men who, having but narrowly escaped with their lives, were able to take so clear a view of the situation, and to report on it secondingly. The fact reported by our Feking correspondent, that the soldiers saw in the arrival of the delegates the signal for their disbandment, in no way vitiates this view. Nothing, it can easily be understood, would appear more likely to them than that their employers would seize the op portunity of restored union in China, to get rid of their inconvenient presence and the still more inconvenient debt owing to them. ... On: both sides :: # very large; sum of money has been due and, there is, little doubt that many glowing hopes have been brought to naught by the declaration of peace only, in the south the troops have been sustained by the prestige of triumph, and in the north their morality has been weakened by recollections of earlier looting. With the money now in hand from abroad the Provisional Government should be able to secure loyalty enough amongst the thousands of soldiers in arms to restore order. But two dessons are to be learnt from the mutiny. First, that it will not be safe to attempt to distand the troops until the return of warmer weather and the revival of trade combine to provide them with other fields of employment. Secondly, that as soon as the authorities can assure themselves of power to punish the wrongdoors, there must be no mistaken policy of violence. Such insurrections as the present one are inevitable in every revolution, and there is but one way to permanenty to be assured. The Shanghai Mercury said :-No student of Roman history could ever have failed to notice that during the period of the later Emperors it was not the Emperor who ruled, but the Protorian Guard. Let there, be a more than or, dinarily ambitious general, or even a civil functionary, all that was necessary for him to do to depose his master and reign in his stead was to win the support of the men whose duty it was to support their ruler. That done, "L'Empereur est mort: vive I'Empereur!" That some such game has been going on in Peking is more than check matters by an effective whiff of grape-shot. We must wait for further explanation before awarding the blam which must attach to somebody for this negligence. Yet should it be remembered that the occurrence is typically Chinese. Very rarely indeed have the native authorities ever been known to put an end to trouble by nipping it in the bad. They, have had the means at hand to do sol Hung Six Tsuen and his original band could all have been captured by half the force which Colone Bruce now has under his command ; yet they rosmed unsubdued for 15 years, conquered fifteen of the eighteen provinces, and were the cause of more than lifteen millions of deaths. Other cases of the like could be adduced.

Those responsible for the outbreak in the capital know all these things. They know to a nicety where the weak points in the provisional administration are to be found, and as they are dissatisfied with the turn events have taken they are ready to do all they can to upset arrangements which do not please them, in the hope that in the turmoil that ensues something more to their liking may turn up. We do not for one moment believe that the mutiny explanation is the one and only one. That the soldiers did muting is evident enough, but what it was that made them mutiny is, not as yet made public. Two or three suggestions have been offered, but since they are more or; less self-contradictory they need not be accepted too readily. The isct of the matter is that the objection tothe provisional settlement, so far as, it has gone, is twofold, partly native, and partly foreign. The Chinese revolution in this respect is following along the natural lines of all revolutions. Those who are dissatisfied snatch at whatever help is offered -even if it comes from foreign enemies our own little revolution took place in the time of James II. Built more; of it accome panied the events of the French Revolution. We need not be surprised, therefore, to find it in China. We knew well enough that the Republican form of government China has outside enemies of a very ermited sort. Need we go further int. an explanation of the late trouble? The only remedy is promptness, vigour, and determination. A Napoleon and his whiff

8 Garfield Road, Scarborough, 27 Dear Sira My little boy has been a constant worry to us through loss of appetite. We could not got him to eat any kind of food, and he became as thin as a rail. We tried many different remedies without benefit, and began to fear he would develop consumption. A friend advised Angier's Emulsion and it has had a marvellous effect upon my little boy's:health. To day he can eat like a furmer, and is well and strong and in perfect health. I have no hesitation in saying that Angier's Emulsion is a splendid, vremedy for delicate children.

PLEASANT TO TAKE CHILDREN ALL LIKE IT.

The combined soothing and strengthening properties of Angler's Emulsion, together with lits agreeable cream-like taste, make it the ideal remedy for children's ailments. It makes the , little ones ear better, digest better, aleep better, and rapidly gain in weight, strength and colour, Doctors prescribe it not only for coughs and all lung weakness, but for scroinly rickets, malnutrition and for all wasting and bowel disorders; also for building up after measles, fevers etc. Children all like the Emulsion and take it with real pleasure.

JUDGE AND PROSECUTOR SHOT.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail) LONDON, March 15.

A telegram from Roanoke, Virginia, states that five persons were killed and 23 wounded in a fight which occurred in the courthouse in Sillaville, in the Blue Mountains. The occasion was the sen tencing of a member of the notorious Allen gang for a petty offence. The brothers and friends of the prisoner fired, killing the judge and prosecutor instantly, and a battle then ensued.

Finally the assailants backed out of the courthouse, revolvers in hand. They then mounted horses and disappeared. A posse of citizens is pursuing them.

should be allowed to hold the idea that h is the only sufferer under the present READY MADE unfortunate condition of things: We usually get a "cold snap" about the middle of March, so I for our was not surprised when the thermometer suddenly dropped. But judging from the remarks I hear on every hand, others were not quite so well prepared and are lamenting the laying away last week end of their winter clothing at the bottom of the deepest box. The Suffragettes are getting at last the treatment at the hand of the Bench that their ailly, reckless extravagances have richly deserved. A few more bear sentences and they will tire of smashing the windows of helpless, inoffensive tradespeople. Perhaps ridicule will also help to make them mend their ways. It was a female of this sort who since saked for woman !? She paused & moment and looked round
